Francis Walch in families. Miss Ethel M. Lawrence, a cousin of the bride was maid of honor, and the best man was Fred Carrick, a brother of the bride. The bride was gowned in white taffeta and carried bride roses, and the bridesmaid wore a gown of champagne voile over light blue tatfeta. Miss Beulah Harris was flower girl and carried a basket of flowers. The rooms were prettily decorated with golden glow and evergreen, and the cere mony was preformed under an arch of evergreen, the ring service being used. Dainty refreshments were served after the ceremony, by Mrs. F. A. Allison and Misses May Wilson and Ellen Harris. Mr. Lane is employed on the St. J. & L. C. division, and Miss Carrick has many friends here where her home has always been, who wish them both many years of happiness. Mr. and Mrs. Lane left last night for a trip to Boston and Portland, and will be "at home" after October 1, at 43 bastern Avenue. They were recipients of many presents of sterling silver, cut glass, a dinner set and linen.

GUARANTEE.

I hereby agree to refund the money paid for Mi-o-na, on return of the empty boxes, if the purchaser tells me that it has failed to cure dyspepsia or stomach troubles. This guarantee covers two 50c boxes, or a month's Mi-o-na is a remarkable preparation that tones up the digestive organs and quickly gives perfect health and strength. It will cure the worst case of indigestion, or the depressed irritated state that afflicts nearly every one who has stomach trouble. It is not a mere di gestive like the pepsin tablets, but is a remedy that absolutely and positively class Turco 2d, and in the 2.15 class cures dyspepsia and restores perfect health to the digestive system.

W. B. Eastman can tell you of many of his customers who recommend Mi-o-na because it cured them. Better than all testimonials, though, is the guarantee under which Mi-o-na is sold. It is a plain, positive statement that if this remedy does not relieve you of indigestion, it will cost you absolutely nothing.

Friday's Rally.

Friday night was a red letter day in local politics when Music Hall was crowded to the doors to hear Lieut. Gov. Guild of Boston and Senator Dillingham. It was the best rally ever held in St. Johnsbury and both speakers were enthusiastically received. Excellent music was furnished by the St. Johnsbury Band, and Frank D. Thompson, first vice president of the Republican club, presided and with him on the platform were State Committeeman Harry Blodgett and the republican town committee, W. W. Sprague, E. L. Stiles and Harry M.

Lieut.-Gov. Guild'spoke for an honr, being frequently interrupted by applause. The first part of his address was a briliant character sketch of his friend the President, and the latter part was a masteriul resume of the republican party's foreign policy under the leadership of the President and Secretary Hay. At the close of his address the applause was so prolonged that he twice rose and acknowledged the compliment. Senator Dillingham devoted the first part of his address to the nasty charge nade by the democratic state committee about Candidate Bell charging the state for more days than there were in the year for services as cattle commissioner, and proved that the attack made by the secret circular was absolutely false. then spoke of the liability of the next House Leing democratic and showed how poorly the North would fare on congressional committees if John Sharp Williams was the next speaker. He urged the voters to roll up such a majority for Bell and Stearns that it would be heard around the world and make the election of President Roosevelt and a republican House an assured thing in November.

Frank O. French, our popular comedian, and campaign singer, was warmly re-ceived and his campaign songs brought lown the house.

Church Notes.

Their Hatred of England. Ferdinand de Lesseps used to tell how a Frenchman came to his aid when he was struggling against Palmerston's opposition to the Suez canal. The man, who was a total stranger, walked into his office one day and Irew out of his pocket a wallet stuffed with bank notes. "Monsieur," said he, "I beg the privilege of being allowed to subscribe toward the railway of the island of Sweilen." "But, monsieur," said Lesseps, "it is not a railroad; it's a canal. It's not an island, but an isthmus. It is not in Sweden, but at Suez." "I don't care what it is or where it is," said the capitalist, "so long as it worries England. Put me down, I say."

But Lesseps had little reason to make fun of this episode if the picture his own son draws of him be true. Becoming incensed at some attack made on him in the British parliament and being inadequately provided with means to express his rage, his mind suddenly reverted to his linen collar, which was of English make. He tore it from his neck, dashed it upon the floor and danced on it, all for hatred of the island it came from.

Bryan Confirmed.

Mr. Cleveland's indorsement of Judge Parker confirms Mr. Bryan's belief that the New York jurist is the candidate of the Wall street element in the Democratic party. The Nebraskan's reply to the Cleveland interview is in effect. "I told you so."-Albany Evening Journal.

Don't Forget It.

It must not be forgotten that the Democrats still worship at the free trade shrine and at their first chance would experiment again with their old fetich of a "tariff for revenue only."-

JOB PRINTING AT THIS OFFICE.

"There Isn't One Really Good Printer in Five Hundred"

PRINTERS' INK-the leading journa on publicity of all kinds-has the following to say: "There are thousands of printers in this country, good, indifferent, and a lot of bad ones. There isn't one really good printer in five hundred. Intelligent advertisers are willing to pay for good printing, no matter where it comes from."

PRINTERS' INK knows what it is talking about. Poor printing is a bad investment-it's worse than a blank. A business man's stationery or booklet is like a traveling manit it's neat, well dressed and to the point, the first impression is good and your chances of doing business on the strength of it are good.

We realize this. We keep abreast of the times. We know what good printing is and produce it. We are pretty careful not to let a poor job get on to our presses. No press in the country can better our printing and we want you to know it.

PHILIPPINES AT WORLD'S FAIR

Complete Exhibition of Island People and Industries Covers Forty-seven Acres and Is Independent of Larger Show.

Not even in the heart of Manila city could there be found forty-seven acres of Philippine territory as interesting as that amount of space covered by the islands' display at the World's Fair. Here is an exposition within an exposition, a little wheel that revolves independently of the larger one encompassing it.

Scores of buildings are filled with exhibits, native life is depicted by as many different villages as there are tribes on the islands, military drills are given by Philippine troops, and concerts are rendered by native bands. For its amusement features the Philippine exposition has the humorous Igorrote, who dines on dog meat, and visitors are entertained by Visayan actors and actresses. Nothing is lacking to make the show complete.

The Administration building is a replica of the government offices in Manila, while the Art and Education building reproduces in miniature the cathedral within the walled city, even the mellowed tints of age being faithfully rendered. A section of the ancient but still serviceable town wall has been reconstructed to serve the double purpose of a gateway to the show and a museum of arms and war relics. The other main edifices are types of Filipino homes, being built of undressed timber, bamboo and rattan, with thatched roofs and broad verandas. Then there are the tribal villages nestling under the trees, some of the houses perched high up among the boughs, others on piles above the waters of the Arrowhead lake, all of them actual dwellings fashioned of native materials by native workmanship and illustrating the manners, customs and pursuits of their occupants. Here are women weaving a coarse cloth on a rude hand loom, others making baskets, others tending irrigated fields of rice. One group of men are in village council, trying an offender according to their tribal laws; others are slowly moving in a circular dance to the thump of tomtoms and the clang of brass gongs; others, again, are smelting iron by the aid of a primitive but most ingenious bellows, the constituent parts of which are a bamboo tube and an airtight mop of feathers working therein like the piston of a syringe. And these are but a few of an almost endless variety of life pictures. The ethnological problem is a somewhat complicated one; but, although there are no fewer than sixteen races represented among the village dwellers, the scouts and the constabulary, each race speaking its own dialect and following its own customs, all may be roughly classified into four groupsthe true aboriginals or non-Malays, the pagan Malays, the Christian Malays and the Mohammedan Malays.

The first are the dwarf Negritos, with dark skins and woolly heads, wearers of scanty raiment, proficient in the use of the bow and poisoned arrow, a race of nomads and forest dwellers, pagans pure and simple. They live in their own stockaded village.

Next to them are the Igorrotes, whose origin is traced back to the first wave of Malay invasion. Here, again, we have scanty clothing, amounting almost to nudity, but copper colored skins, long wavy tresses, pleasant featured faces and fine physiques, even though the stature be small. Among these pagan Malays are the head hunters and the dog eaters. They are savages, yet have their code of laws' and a knowledge of several primitive indus-

The Christian Malays, produced by the second wave of invasion, are represented by the Visayans, a tall and handsome race, dressing well, living in pretty homes, skilled in weaving, dyeing, basket making, hat making, wood carving and other handicrafts, musicians of no mean merit, the one group of natives who came early and thoroughly under the influence of the early

Spanish settlers. Very different are the Moros, who swept into the islands from the Malay peninsula last of all, bringing with them their Mohammedan religion, also a knowledge of gunpowder acquired with the Koran from the Arabs-fanatics like their teachers, pirates, bloodthirsty, treacherous and vindictive fel-Permanently Ineligible.
